

Vancouver's Vintage Cocktail Scene: The Best Bars in Town

by AmyWatkins a week ago - last edited a week ago

A splash of nostalgia, a dash of dark spirits and a pinch of good old-fashioned fun complete the recipe for Vancouver's vintage cocktail scene. Singapore sips the slings and Moscow makes a kicking mule but this West Coast city has spawned its own signature drink.

When the historic 1920s Hotel Georgia reopened as Rosewood Hotel Georgia in 2011, the bar team at Hawksworth Restaurant reimagined a retro recipe from Ted Saucier's Bottom's Up (1951) cocktail anthology. The Hotel Georgia cocktail originated in Vancouver in the '40s and Hawksworth's modern version mixes Plymouth Gin, Giffard's orgeat, egg white, lemon juice and orange blossom water topped with nutmeg.

History comes alive in Hawksworth's Hotel Georgia cocktail © Hawksworth Restaurant/Hawksworth Communications